

Our Son Gets His Braces...

The First Follow Up

When I was a kid and had braces, each trip to the Orthodontist involved tightening, rubber bands and whole new round of discomfort. For our sons first follow appointment, we weren't sure what to expect. With the Damon System from Ormco that we were using, we were told it would be much easier, but still.

Mason sat down and Dr. Bach from East End Orthodontics took a look. Then he simply replaced the wire connecting the braces, and adjustment here, and adjustment there and we were done. I asked Mason if he felt anything different, and he said "nope". I can see some movement and straightening of his teeth already, and he's totally used to the braces.

It's night and day from when I was younger...and for my sons sake, I'm very, very happy about that.

(Note: We've been provided compensation to report on this experience, all opinions are our own)

<http://hamptons.macaronikid.com/article/386359/our-son-gets-his-braces>